

Class of 1990: Class Notes

Sheila Mitchell Johnson writes in that her son is 27 and in his third year with the union for the steamfitters and pipe. Jai, her daughter, is a first year college student and is on the track team. Kevin, her husband, is starting his 23rd season with the Philadelphia 76ers. Sheila says her life is uneventful and that she plans to draft a book when she retires because of all the unique employees that come through her office. She traveled to Florida alone to visit her sister-in-law. Their family trip was moving Jai into college.

Carolyn Alexander Griffin writes in that she started her own pet sitting business, Carolyn's Cozy Critters. She and Deron love attending concerts. She and Deron were able to visit Annie Bisch Jansen and her husband, Paul, last May. She has worked with the state for 31 plus years. She enjoys visiting her son, daughter-in-law and her granddaughter, Rain, in Florida every chance they get.

Jane Abbott writes in that 2025 was not the year she anticipated. In April she was diagnosed with early stage ovarian and uterine cancer. She had extensive surgery followed by chemotherapy, which lead her to miss Reunion. Now she writes that she is just healing from all of that and hoping to be back to full time with work soon. She is still working in Home Health Physical therapy, part-time, since July, slowly increasing the workload. She states that Providence was working overtime for her because another issue led them to finding the cancers. She says family and friends have been awesomely supportive and helpful. She says that she loved being able to recently spend a long weekend with Annie Bisch Jansen and Jamie Hunt Kauff.

As for me (Jamie Hunt Kauff) and George we are doing fine. I am retired and enjoy spending time with our seven grandkids. They are the apple of my eye. We are currently helping our son remodel the house next door to us in order for him to flip it. I help watch the littles while George and Matt do the hard work. I enjoyed seeing everyone who made it back for the 2025

Reunion. I got to spend a really great weekend catching up with Annie Bisch Jansen and Jane Abbott in February. We had a blast.
